DETAILED ACTION

In view of new art, the finality of the rejection of the last office cation is withdrawn.

Claims 21, 29 and 30 have been canceled. Claims 17-20 and 22-28 are pending in the application and the status of the application is as follows:

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. Claims 17-20 and 22-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the combination of U. S. Patents 6,264,933('933) and 5,626,840 ('840).

(1) CLAIM CONSTRUCTION

The claims are drawn to method of treating skin comprising applying a skin care composition comprising neutralized, solubilized anionic polyurethane and at least one solvent. The specification does not define the meaning for "treating skin". The specification discloses various examples drawn to cosmetic compositions and based upon the disclosure it is the examiners position that "treating skin " is equivalent to cosmetic compositions applied to skin. The specification defines "solubilized urethane " as urethane being soluble in solvent. Neutralized means having a base in the composition. Patent '840 is to hair fixative application and the patent teaches hair spray formulations and when formulations are sprayed on to hair there is contact with the skin and patent '840 is relied for this reason.

Patent '933 teaches compositions for coating keratin fibers, which is to mascara. Mascara is a skin care composition belonging to color cosmetics. Patent'933 teaches using anionic polyurethanes. See claim 1 for film-former and see claim 11 for anionic polyurethane and see solvents at col.4, lines 17-25. See col.4, lines 5-9 for the concentration of the polymer. The solvents, which are taught by the patent is also the solvents used for making the polyurethane solubilized in the instant application. The patent also teaches use of water- soluble polymers like polyacrylates and polymethacrylate. See col.4, lines 30-35 and 48-49. The difference between the patent and the instant application is the patent teaches film former (anionic polyurethane) dispersed in the aqueous phase and the patent does not disclose base where the polyurethane is neutralized. However, patent '840 teaches anionic polyurethanes which can be soluble or dispersible in water. See the abstract, and see col.s 2-4 for the preparation of the polyurethane and see col.5, lines 52-63 where the patent teaches that neutralization renders the polymer soluble or dispersible in water for easy formulations.

Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to prepare skin care compositions using the anionic polyurethane for treating skin and add base to the compositions, which make the polyurethane neutralized as well as solubilized, taught by patent '840. One of ordinary skill in the art would be motivated to add base into the skin care compositions with the reasonable expectation of success that the compositions which have the base demonstrate good humidity resistance, forms a clear transparent glossy film that is easily removable with water. This is a prima facie case of obviousness.
